The Telephone Rate Bill. - Senator Searls moved that the resolution from the house to recall the telephone rate bill from the office of the secretary of state be indefinitely

The motion to indefinitely postpone the resolution was passed by a vote of 12 to 11.

The matter was transmitted to the house under suspension of rules. Income Tax Amendment. The proposed income tax amendment to the constitution of the United States was received and referred to the committee on federal relations.

Charters for Cities.

Senator Middleton moved the acceptance of the unfavorable report of the committee on cities and boroughs in reference to the resolution for the appointment of a commission on uniform charters and cities.

The report of the committee was accepted and the resolution rejected. Willimantic Gas and Electric Co.

On the motion of Senator Higgins the senate adopted house amendments to the resolution, allowing the Willimantic Gas and Electric Light company to extend its business to Coventry.

Inheritance Tax. Inheritance Tax.

Senator Arnold explained the bill increasing the inheritance tax from one-half mill to one mill in the case of direct heirs and from three to five mills in the case of collateral heirs. Senator Arnold said an inheritance tax is an easy method of taxation as it dones not inflict a hardship on anyone. Very often the property goes to people who did not expect it.

The bill was passed unanimously.

Public Utilities Bills, On the motion of Senator Middle-ton the majority and the minority pub-lic utilities bills were made the order of the day for Tuesday next at 12

Sale of Electricity. Senator Latimer effered the following substitute to the bill relating to the sale of electricity and on his motion it was made the order of the day for Wednesday at 11.30 a. m.

Section 3918 of the general statutes is hereby amended to read as follows:

No person or corporation, unless act-ing under authority from the general assembly, shall, in any city or town of assembly shall, in any city or town of this state whose population exceeds fifteen thousand, manufacture for sale any electricity for purposes of lighting or power; subject to the provision that this section shall not prevent such manufacture and sale within the block where such electricity is manufactured, provided that the same is not transmitted or conducted across any highway or public grounds; and subject to the further provision that any person or corporation may manufacture and use electricity in the business of such person or corporation and supof such person or corporation and sup-ply and sell the same to his tenants in buildings of such persons or cor-poration located in blocks across the street from the block where such elec-tricity is manufactured.

THE HOUSE.

In the absence of Speaker Banks, Mr. Burnes of Greenwich called the house to order at 10.36. Chaplain Countryman offered prayer. Disagreeing Action.

Disagreeing Action.

The bill concerding employers' liability had been passed by the house and rejected in the senate. Mr. Huxford of Stamford moved to adhere and Mr. Bishop of New Haven opposed. The motion was withdrawn. Mr. Bishop moved that the house insist and appoint a committee of conference. This was done and Mr. Lyon of Thomaston and Mr. Bishop of New Haven were named.

Women's and Minors' Hours.

Mr. Buckley of Union as chairman of the committee on labor explained the committees' favorable report on a substitute for a senate bill concerning the hours of labor for women and minors. The senate had amended with three amendments, one dealing with the form of notice to be required and to be provided by the factory inspector and correcting clerical errors. This was adopted. Another changed certain employment forbidden to minors so as to forbid it to minors until 16 years. It was adopted. The third amendment struck out a part of section 4, and it was rejected.

Mr. Chandler of Rocky Hill introduced an amendment allowing an employer who gives seven holidays with pay in a calendar year to employ for not more than eleven hours a day from the 17th to the 25th of December. He said that the lines which he corrected were loosely drawn and open to mischievous construction. Mr. Chandler said that in Pennsylvania labor of children in the holiday season was actually shortened, because the work was harder.

Mr. Higgins said that if the matter Women's and Minors' Hours.

was harder.

Mr. Higgins said that if the matter stood between the interest of the mercantile establishments on the one side cantile establishments on the one side and the interests of growing boys and girls of Connecticut on the other, he stood squarely for the children as against money. Mr. Humphrey of Oxford was in favor of this amendment. He said that some children came out Christmas weeks wrecks. The exaction did nobody good except the men who made money out of young children.

Mr. Chandler of Rocky Hill wanted to know if the merchants kept open at night only for working people and not for the profit. From what Mr. Parker sald one would think that it was only for humanitarian purposes This amendment was along the line of economic development. The first duty of the general assembly was to mankind, not merchants.

Mr. Magee of Watertown sald that in most trades the hours were all day, and yet the general assembly was to mankind, not merchants.

Mr. Chamberlain of New Britain was against the amendment. Mr. Tibbits of Norwich stated that in that city department stores paid employes who were away sick.

Mr. Bishop of New Haven said that in good department stores stools were furnished to employes. He figured that the time for the week before Christmas should be twelve hours a day instead of eleven.

mas should be twelve hours a day in-stead of eleven.

Mr. Dunn of Windham said that be always stood for labor and that he supposed it would go out today that anyone voting against the amend-ment was against labor. It should be understood, however, that it was an accommodation to working people to have extra time in which to trade. He did not know of any women who had did not know of any women who had asked their representatives to vote for

Plenty of Water in the Well.

A. J. Florian, who resides on a hill in the north part of Reynold's Bridge, has been troubled, like many others, about a shortage of water the past two seasons. He secured the services of a man from tlartford and a six-inch drill was started in his old well, which was 23 feet in depth and from Saturday noon until Wednesday night more than 35 feet was drilled. At this point the test was made, showing the well contained 41 feet of water; also that in pumping out 250 gallons in a few minutes the well had lowered but two feet. The result of the experiment is very gastiance to Mr. Florian. Plenty of Water in the Well.

ITS OWN AIRSHIPS

To Be Made in Bridgeport by the Lake

No longer will the eyes of the world be centered upon the Wright brothers, for feats in aerial fights, and no longer will Hubert Latham be talked of in Bridgeport because of his monoplane trip over the English channel, says The Farmer. This city, is going to have a few airships of its own and Christopher J. Lake, the inventor of many mechanical devices, and the father of Capt. Simon Lake, inventor of the Lake submarine torpedo boats, is back of the plan and he has secured from Stephen C. Oaborne an option on Hippodrome park, formerly called Nutmeg park, where work has already been started without ostentation upon the alreahips.

One of the workmen is a high class machinist, who did much of the fine work upon the engines of the submarine torpedo boats, and the other workman encountered by the reporter is said to be a high class mechanic, who is going to work out Mr. Lake's ideas. As the flying machine is no longer an impossibility, it is understood that Mr. Lake intends to perfect his type of machine with the idea of manufacturing it for trade.

NEW SERVICE SATISFACTORY.

NEW SERVICE SATISFACTORY. First Day's Operation on New Haven Road Pleases Commuters.

Considerable interest by commuters and railroad men was manifested Monday in the opening of the new train service on the Harlem River branch of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. The trains were well patronized both ways and ran punctually to their schedules. The result of the day's operation justifies the conclusion that the experiment is bound to become a popular success. Such divisions of traffic from the Grand Central terminal will eventually cut into the revenue of the New York Central lines, while adding to the profits of the New Haven company. Superintendent Hopson, assisted by Trailmaster Paul Smith, was on hand all day at the Harlem terminal to see that the arrangements for the prompt and systematic transfer of passengers were fully carried out. The commuters expressed themselves well pleased with the service and complimented Mr. Mellen and the New Haven officials on their enterprise.

ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL Bill Creating the Office With a Salary of $3,000 Favored.

Attorney General M. H. Holcomb conferred with the committee on the judiciary last week on a bill which he offered as a substitute to the bill for the appointment, by the governor, of a person, who shall be an attorney-at-law, to receive from the relatives of indigent persons the amount of claims of the state for the latter's support. This bill was recommitted to the committee.

The substitute bill of the attorney general provides for the appointment of an assistant attorney general at a salary of $3,000, and whose duties along with others, shall be to collect along with others, shall be to collect these claims. Judge Holcomb is opposed to the suggestion that the comptroller should collect the cloims. He is of the opinion that the collection of the claims is, properly, a part of the legal business of the state, and that it is unnecessary to have this business divided between two departments of the state government.

There is now before the legislature a bill ap-propriating $25,000 for the establish-ment of two trade schools in the state. The Ninth district committee, which is the committee governing the business of the Ninth school district of Manchester, an incorporated district, has made application for one of the schools.

Chenty Bros. bought the mill and agreed to furnish all the equipment necessary for a trade school, if the state board of education, which has the power in the bill to decide where the school shall be located, decides to allot to Manchester one of the schools. The appropriation of $12,500 which will go with the school will be considered sufficient to pay the running expense of the school.

The incorporators are John B. Summerfield, New York; Henry M. Haviland, West Brookheid, N. Y., and Arthur M. Taylor, Brooklyn, N. T. The amount with which the company will start business is $1,000.

No Camp Fire at Plainville Unless De manded-Programme of Exercises.

There will not be a camp fire at the Vetreans' day exercises at the Plainville camp grounds on Thursday, July 29, unless there is a general demant for one. The Veterans' day gathering this year will be addressed by General George Haven, department commander of the G. A. R., and others. The programme follows:

Governor Weeks Names Delegates.

Gov. Frank B. Weeks has named elegates to the Trans-Mississippi minutes after passage that Mr. Bunyan of Colchester might offer an amendment exempting children under 16 from Isbor after 7 p. m. Mr. Clark of Bridgeport opposed this amendment, which was loat. Then for the second time the bill as amended was passed.

The advantage of oil on the roads as a means to settle the dust can be seen to good advantage in Piginville. The to good advantage in Plainville. The road is compact, it continues moist, and there is absolutely no dust. In some cities the oil has been put on in such a way as to cause it to spatter on the curb, as vehicles passed over it the conditions became worse, and the unsightly appearance of the street has been against the use of oil. Its use in Plainville, however, shows to good advantage, though the stretch oiled is not long.—New Britain Herald.

BISHOP TIERNEY'S SUCCESSOR. No Definite Time Set for Electing Bishop for This Diocese.

Bishop for This Diocese.

The Catholics of this diocese are somewhat perplexed over the delay in choosing a successor to the late Bishop Tierney. It is nine months since the Ismented prelate passed away, and the general opinion was that the new bishop would be announced shortly after Essier, or by July I at the latest. The Meriden Journal this week was given a statement by a member of the Catholic ciergy of that city, throwing considerable light on the subject. He said:

"Until September I of last year, the United States was considered a missionary country. All missionary countries conduct their ecclesiastical business through the propaganda, the body which has charge of all matters pertaining to missionary countries, such as appointing bishops, dividing dioceses, etc. A change went into effect after September I, whereby this country is no longer considered missionary, but a superrate congregation, under the direct supervision of the pope. All business pertaining to the diocese has since been done with the sovereign pontiff, entirely independent of the propaganda.

"The new congregation, of course, had a great deal of business left on its hands, and the various matters had to be dealt with slowly. The new order of things is going along quite smoothly now, but each subject brought to the attention of the pope must be taken in the turn. Therefore it is not really known when the bishop of Hartford will be named, although the opinion among the majority of clergymen seems to be that the new prelate will surely be in office by fall."

DO BEES TRESPASS? Peculiar Suit Brought by Watertown Neighbor.

At Watertown Charles Field has brought suit against his next door neighbor, Grank Glimore. The latter keeps bees and Mr. Field claims they are a nuisance, they having stung him many times, and that they ought to be kept at home and not allowed to visit and sting neighbors. The bees and their stings have kept the two neighbors from being the best of friends for some time and it is reported that Mr. Field built a pigpen just as near Mr. Gilmore's front door as the boundary lines would permit. According to the story, Mr. Field put some pigs in the pen, but the bees objected to having the swine for neighbors and stung them so unmercifully that they soon died. There is a law regarding livestock trespassing on neighbor's premises, but this is said to be the first attempt ever made to have bees kept in confinement and should it be carried to a higher court might be made a test case and become of general interest to beckeepers throughout the state. Mr. Field lives farther from Mr. Gilmore than other neighbors and in a different direction.

POSTOFFICE SITE.

Treasury Department Gives Business Men Ultimatum.

The business men of Danbury have until August 1 to make good on their proposition of securing the railroad station in that city as a site for the new public building to be constructed at Danbury. Representative Hill of Connecticut went to the treasury department the other day to ascertain what the condition of affairs was. Being informed that no site had yet been what the condition of affairs was. Being informed that no site had yet been selected, Mr. Hill urged that action be taken soon. Assistant Secretary Hilles said he would give the business men about two weeks in which to make a definite offer of the railroad station site, and if that deal could not be closed in that time 'the department would consider other sites.

STILL AFTER HOLIDAY.

Seymour Dry Goods, Clothing and Furniture Merchants Back of Move-

A movement is afoot in Seymour for the clowing of the dry goods stores, clothing stores and furniture stores on Tuesday afternoons through the remainder of July and August. This movement originates with merchants and not with the clerks. It was groceries and meat markets which prevented the agreement circulated by the clerks, to fall of accomplishment. Some of the merchants themselves are anxious for the closing, which they realize can be done without injury to their business.
